INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Board of Directors
The Donna Foundation, Inc.
Jacksonville, Florida

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of The Donna Foundation, Inc. (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statements of financial position as of June 30, 2025 and 2024, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Donna Foundation, Inc. as of June 30, 2025 and 2024, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of The Donna Foundation, Inc. and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about The Donna Foundation, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of The Donna foundation, Inc.'s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about The Donna Foundation, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
Years Ended June 30, 2025 and 2024

A. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

Organization and Purpose:

The Donna Foundation, Inc. (the Organization), a private nonprofit organization in Northeast, Florida, provides financial assistance and support nationwide to those living with breast cancer and funds ground breaking breast cancer research. The Organization produces and participates in a variety of community outreach initiatives, educational programs and fundraising events yearly to support its mission.

Basis of Accounting:

The financial statements of the Organization have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting and accordingly reflect all significant receivables, payables, and other liabilities.

Basis of Presentation

Financial statement presentation follows the recommendations of the Financial Accounting Standards Board's Accounting Standard Codification for Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations (ASC 958). In August 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-14, "Presentation of Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit entities" (Topic 958). The ASU amended the prior reporting model for not-for-profit organizations by changing the reporting of net assets from three classes to two classes, net assets without donor restrictions and net asset with donor restrictions, as well as adding and enhancing certain financial statement disclosures.

Leases:

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-02 Leases (Topic 842). This guidance amends existing lease standards requiring lessees to recognize a liability for what were previously defined as operating leases, an off-balance sheet item, on their balance sheets with a corresponding right to use asset. The Company adopted the requirements of the guidance effective July 1, 2022 and has elected to apply the provisions of this standard to the beginning of the period of adoption. Comparative information has not been restated and continues to be reported under the accounting standards in effect for the prior period.

The lease liability is initially and subsequently recognized based on the present value of its future lease payments. The discount rate used is the U.S. Treasury par yield curve rate based on the information available at the commencement date for all leases. The right-to-use asset is subsequently measured throughout the lease term at the amount of the remeasured lease liability. Lease cost for lease payments is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

The Organization has elected, for all underlying classes of assets, to not recognize right-to-use assets and lease liabilities for short-term leases that have a lease term of 12 months or less at lease commencement, and do not include an option to purchase the underlying asset that the Organization is reasonably certain to exercise. The Organization recognizes lease cost associated with short-term leases on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash Equivalents:

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Organization considers all highly liquid short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. The Organization maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, which at times, may exceed federally insured limits of $250,000. The Organization has not experienced any losses in such accounts. The Organization had $197,376 of cash in excess of insured limits at June 30, 2025.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts:

The Organization considers all accounts receivable to be fully collectible; accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts is required.

Contributions and Support Without and With Donor Restrictions:

Contributions and support received are recorded either without or with donor restrictions, depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions.

Support that is restricted by the donor is reported as an increase in net assets without donor restrictions if the restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends, or purpose restriction is accomplished) in the reporting period in which the support is recognized. All other donor-restricted support is reported as an increase in net assets with donor restrictions, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires, net assets with donor restrictions are reclassified to net assets without donor restrictions and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Income Taxes:

The Organization is recognized by the Internal Revenue Service as not-for-profit under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is, therefore, exempt from income taxes.

The Organization takes tax positions which it feels are adhering to the laws established by the taxing authorities. Therefore, the organization doesn't believe it has taken any uncertain tax positions which could subject it to penalties or interest; therefore, none have been accrued in the accompanying financial statements. The taxing authorities have the right to audit the Organization's books for the current and three previous years.

A. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued):

Inventories:

Inventories primarily relate to merchandise relating to the foundation and national marathon. Inventory is valued at lower of cost or net realizable value as determined on the first-in, first-out basis.

Property and Equipment:

Property and equipment are recorded at cost as of the date of acquisition. Contributed property is recorded at fair values as of the date of receipt. Capitalization of assets received from the above source is made only when the amount exceeds $1,000. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets (equipment and furniture – 5 to 7 years).

Expense Allocation:

The financial statements report certain categories of expenses that are attributable to more than one program or supporting function. Therefore, these expenses require allocation on a reasonable basis that is consistently applied. The expenses that are allocated include event related expenses, fundraising, and compensation and benefits, which are allocated on the basis of estimates of time and effort to the program or function benefitted.

Advertising:

The Organization expenses advertising (communications) costs in the periods in which they are incurred. Advertising (communications) expense was $423,985 and $392,889 for the periods ended June 30, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Part of these cost were in-kind contributions as listed in Footnote D.
